

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I consecrate this thesis at the feet of God almighty whose invisible presence goaded me in each step of my journey towards the fulfillment of my ambition.

I bow down in humility and reverence before the selfless commitment of my supervisor Dr. Joby Thomas. K, without which I could not have accomplished this work, I would always cherish the momentous events he led me through and the strong foundation he laid in the intellect of the researcher I am.

My dream would have been impossible without the incessant co-operation, love and encouragement from my family members.

I would like to thank Dr. P. O. Jenson, Principal, Rev. Fr. Martin Kolambrath, Bursar of the College, all the faculty members of Chemistry Department, especially former Heads of this Department Dr. C. V. Jose, Dr. Joy Anto and the present Head Dr. Babu Joseph and Sri. M. P. Varghese, former lab staff, for the invaluable support they offered whenever I was in need.

Words are poor expressions when I begin to thank Dr. Geetha Parameswaran, retired Professor, Dept. of Chemistry, University of Calicut, my research colleagues Mr. Shaju. K. S., Dr. Aby Paul, Mrs. Nimmy Kuriakose, Miss. Reeja, Mrs. Sini, Mr. Prasannakumar, Mr. Aji and Mrs. Drishya. I am very much obliged to Sr. Mareena, HOD chemistry, St. Mary's College Thrissur and Sr. Sarupya Dept. of Biotechnology, Mercy College Palakkad for the facilities they offered to conduct antimicrobial investigations. The complexities of corrosion studies were eased out by the apt guidance given by Dr. Abraham Joseph, Professor, Dept. of Chemistry, University of Calicut, his student Sam John, and Dr. Stanely Jacob, Scientist, C-MET, Thrissur.

I recollect the blessings from the faculty members, Dept. of Chemistry, Govt. College Chittur, palakkad, Govt. Sanskrit College Pattambi, Palakkad and Govt. Engineering College Thrissur, with much contentment.

I acknowledge the help of, Mr. Anoop Thomas of IISER Trivandrum and STIC-CUSAT, NIIIST Trivandrum in the analysis of compounds. I also thank Mr. M. I. Pauly who did the entire printing work of my thesis

Vinod P Raphael