ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research work is the fruitful result of the five-year study conducted in vast subjects like Young Adult Literature, Dystopian Fiction, and Popular Culture studies. My humble effort in the form of this thesis is only a facet among the multiple possibilities hidden in these fields of study, which are yet to be explored and examined. I express heartfelt gratitude to my research supervisor Dr. Viju M.J. who monitored and encouraged me in the path of my research. I am ever grateful to him for providing timely guidance, corrections and criticisms on the subject and methodology of my study. I am indeed blessed to accomplish research under such an experienced mentor and teacher. Here I also express my gratitude to the head of our English Department, Dr. Anto Thomas, who has known me from the time of my Master's course and he continues to support me in all my endeavours. I would also like to thank Professor Cheryl Cowdy and the staff and students from York University in Canada who were so enthusiastic to invite, support and supervise me as a visiting researcher. I am also grateful to Professor Gigy J. Alex, Dr. Srinarahari MH, and Dr. Denis Joseph Anatty Olakkengil for their kind support. I would like to place on record my indebtedness to the Principal, Dr. (Fr.) Martin K.A. and the Staff members, teaching and non-teaching, of St Thomas' College, Thrissur. Among them I must gratefully acknowledge the helpful and critical interest of teachers and my colleagues at the Department of English. I thank Mr. Sanjo Jose, the librarian and the staff at the Library of St. Thomas' College for their timely help at various stages of my research work. The list of people who assisted me in various ways is too embarrassingly long for detailing. Nevertheless I should mention with gratitude the supportive encouragement of my fellow research scholars M.P. Harikrishnan, Anu Antony, and my family members who supported me abundantly in this project.

A NOTE ON DOCUMENTATION

I, hereby, would like to acknowledge that the documentation in the thesis is prepared in accordance with the style format suggested by MLA Handbook (9th Edition).
